Charities

Jay knows how important making a difference can be. He gives back to the community by coaching youth basketball and volunteering at The Haven Group Home For Boys, just participated in the Boca Ballroom Battle put on by The George Snow Scholarship Fund and puts time into other things that make a difference. Jay has a life goal of opening an inner city recreation center and coaching there.

One of the benefits of all his hard work has been the ability to donate his time, energy and money to organizations that raise money for the less fortunate. For more information about The Haven Group Home for Boys www.haven4kids.org or The George Snow Scholarship Fund, www.scholarship.org visit their websites

"It's the simple pleasures in life that mean the most to me," says Jay. "I love taking a long walk with my dogs around my neighborhood and visiting with neighbors and friends. Especially in this Florida weather! My family is my number one priority. I'm very fortunate and I take nothing for granted."

Although his successful career is a high priority, Jay emphasizes the need for balance. "Relationships are the key," he says. His personal time is spent with family and friends. He keeps his body and mind active through sports and exercise, reading, and going to seminars that help him grow as a person and a professional. He has a passion for helping people and uses his giftedness as a teacher to pass on education and knowledge. "It is very rewarding to watch someone else grow as a person," says the talented entrepreneur. Jay is an avid cook, animal lover, and charity organizer, certified mortgage planning specialist, real estate investor and successful community leader, who has a passion for people, teaching and life.

Life's Important Moments

"Like my parents and grandparents, I've always believed in making sure my family knows how important they are to me," he says. "Doing things with them have been the moments in my life that have meant the most to me and ones I know I'll never forget."

"It's my goal to give back to my client's and the community for everything that has been given to me. If I can help one person have one of those "moments" because of what I do, it will have been worth it all."

Make the Moment Count

Whether it is getting married, having a baby, watching your child's first step, sending them off to college or achieving retirement, Jay realizes that life can change in an instant. As one of the top educators, real estate investors and mortgage professionals in Florida, people have come to know him for his caring spirit and knowledgeable expertise as he helps them understand how the right education can help people through these life changes.

Making a Difference

"I am very lucky in that I have one of the best jobs in the world. I get to help people get through these tough times. I know that one of the biggest factors in stress and anxiety come from not knowing what your options and time frames are on those options. I take a lot of pride in being able to articulate options and time frames in an easy to understand way. Essentially, I love what I do because I get to help people and make a difference in their lives."
